JUDGE BIRNEY.

We are gratified in being able to sunounce tha We are gratised in being note to announce that Judge Birney has taken the field as a speaker, addressing meetings and urging the people to the support of the Union cause. Judge Birney is well posted in the political and military history of the times, and, with his convincing style of argument, is able to do good service in the cause He spoke at Buona Vista Hall on Friday evening last—Expressive 20th.

We are also "gratified in being able to announce that Judge Birney has taken the field" as a speaker, and particularly with this cordial endorsement of the leading republican organ in the reasons, which we will name.

1st. He is an undisguised abolitionist, an earnest supporter of the principles of his father, James G. Birney, who said in 1845: "I have no idola-"out the dissolution of the Union, I, matter: "for one, would go for dissolution."

Judge Birney delights in tracing the successful course of the abolition, disunion party from its small beginning in 1840 to its final triumph in the election of Abe Lincoln in 1860. He said, and said truly, in a letter to the forenoon, meet at the following Moses B. Hopkins of Grand Haven places in their respective Wards, and

"Whatever may be said of that portion of the resolutions of the Chicago Convention which criticises the foderal administration, every patriot must be rejoiced to see that important body, representing so large a portion of the American people, solemnly declare that the Union must be preserved. The prospect for the heaviest draft of the war immediately after election, without any of the ameliorating conditions of notice or substitution is "flattering" to those who take it in that light. The last draft has pretty much proved a failure, and a very expensive one at that, and mere men must be had to keep our armies up to the present standard. The government does not seem to hanker after that class of men who generally go as substitutes, and looks to a vigorous conscription, as the only means of filling the ranks.
